CONFIDENTIALITY

The content of the F2F group is confidential. However, group facilitators have regular supervision where the group content may be discussed. There are times when confidentiality may have to be breached, for example if you or somebody else is at risk of harm, or where there is a requirement in law in the case of serious criminal offences (in particular terrorism and money laundering).

Why do you want to join the F2F Group?

Why have you decided to access a F2F group now? Has anything happened that has triggered this decision?

Have you ever had counselling before or been in a support or therapy group before? If YES, please give brief details.

Are you currently receiving any treatment or medication for any physical or mental health problem? Please give information below.

Are you wanting to join a group as a condition of any criminal justice proceedings? If YES, please give information and contact details below.

Group sessions are offered at a regular time and day once per week. Are you able to commit to this? Please explain if this is difficult, for example if you work shifts or have a long holiday planned.

Finally, please tell us how you heard about the F2F Groups at the LGF.

I declare the foregoing is true and correct
